Aid for Southern Korea Necessary, Acheson Says

REDUCTION IN REICH POLICING TROOPS ASKED

Marshall Reported Requesting Cut in Occupation Force in Germany.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 24—An authoritative source disclosed tonight that Secretary Marshall had proposed that the council of foreign ministers in effect order a reduction of Allied occupation forces in Germany to the minimum necessary to carry out Allied policies and protect security.

The proposal was made in a paper circulated among V. M. Molotov, Ernest Bevin and Georges Bidault, the Russian, British and French foreign ministers, it was learned.

Under the proposal, the Allied control council for Germany would be directed to report by next June 1 what forces it considered necessary for each of the four zones on July 1 and gave a similar estimate for July 1, 1948.

One of 3 Papers

The paper on occupation forces was one of the three passed around by the American delegation to the other foreign ministers.

The other papers covered proposals for German democratization and on compensation for Allied nationals whose property had been removed from Germany for reparations on war booty.

In the occupation paper, Marshall asked the council of foreign ministers—which was in recess today—to declare that a reduction of forces and occupation costs is necessary to make the German economy self-supporting as soon as possible, and to help expedite German production for export.

The Soviet Union on the one hand and the United States and Britain on the other charted maneuvers aimed at achieving the kind of government under peace-treaty provisions that each seemed to believe would be most favorable to its own political system.

Laid Before Council

Proposals of all four powers on this issue had been laid before the council in varying detail Saturday night when it quit work till tomorrow to give the foreign ministers deputies time to summarize the results of deliberations now two weeks old.

The deputies on Germany were committed to hard work boiling down a mass of political and economic proposals to lists of points on which there was agreement and points on which there was disagreement. Some top U. S. authorities said this week should tell whether any concrete accomplishment could be expected from the Moscow conference.

The deputies on the Austrian treaty, which had been expected to give less trouble than the German, were shown in a summarization by U. S. Gen. Mark W. Clark to have made little progress. This summary listed eight agreements and seven disagreements on political clauses, seven agreements and 11 disagreements on military clauses and one agreement and nine disagreements on ecoomic clauses. Of the 27 disagreements 26 were in major points.

HOOVER PROPOSAL GAINING SUPPORT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 24 — Herbert Hoover found strong Republican and Democratic support in congress today for his proposal to revive German industrial production minus military potential.

Senators of both parties labelled as "fundamentally sound" the former president's suggestion to (a) free German industry of foreign ownership and operate it at home, subject to a control commission; (b) halt the removal and destruction of all except arms plars and (c) retain the highly industrialized Ruhr and Rhineland within Germany.

Hoover declared in his third report to President Truman on his economic mission to Germany and Austria that production is "the only path to recovery in Europe." He called this "the first necessity to peace."

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic whip, told a reporter the Hoover approach to a very difficult problem seems to me to be fundamentally sound.

"Germany must be given an opportunity to recover economically without permitting her great industries to make war implements," the Illinois senator said, "the recovery of Germany is the key to the whole European situation."

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis), a World War II veteran, said he thinks Hoover hit the nail on the head.

"The whole handling of Germany has been based too much on vengeance rather than the application of common sense," he said. "If we adopt his plan it may indicated we have learned the inescapable fact that we can't have vengeance and peace. We've got to choose one or the other."

DIP IN RUBBER PRICES SEEN

Wage Demand Settlement of 11½ Cents Believed Basis for Cut.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 4—Prices of rubber products may be reduced as a result of the agreement between the CIO-United Rubber Workers and the "Big Four" rubber plants on an 11½ cents hourly wage boost, but there was no indication today that the wage figure would set a pattern for other industries and create industrial peace in 1947.

In fact, a leader of one powerful labor group declared flatly that settlement of the wage question in the rubber industry would "in no way affect" his union's demands for an industry-wide 23½-cent boost over 900,000 members.

President Walter P. Reuther of the CIO United Auto Workers declared at Louisville that "a settlement of the rubbers workers' issue does not change the economic facts connected with our demands.

Concern Noted in Ranks

However, some sources close to the UAW said there was considerable concern as to whether the rubber workers' compromise had jeopardized the auto workers' hopes for the 23½-cent increase.

The eleventh-hour agreement was reached here early yesterday. Approximately 110,000 unionists were prepared to walkout last midnight at plants of the B. F. Goodrich Co., Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and U. S. Rubber Co.

After the agreement was signed, L. M. Buckingham, attorney and spokesman for the companies, said he felt the 11½-cent figure, which is retroactive to Feb. 2, would be construed as a compromise for all industry, as was the 18½-cent auto workers' increase of a year ago.

Buckingham said more than 300,000 workers in the rubber industry would benefit from the Cleveland agreement. Directly affected are the 110,000 union employes of the Big Four, whose average will be $1.45½ an hour. In addition, he said, clerical and other workers in the industry not represented by the union "undoubtedly" will receive a proportionate increase and about 100,000 workers outside the Big Four companies will inherit the benefits.

The annual cost of the increase to the Big Four alone will be nearly $50,000,000, he said.

"The rubber industry will not boost its prices, and as a result of this reasonable settlement, it is

MYSTERY OF DECAYING MANSION DRAWS CROWD

Curious Throng To Site As Police Still Hunt Recluse.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 24—The enigma of the decaying Collyer mansion in Harlem continued to drw crowds of the curious while police completed cautious preparations to search the house today to determine if Langley Collyer, 61, still lives.

His brother, Homer Collyer, 65, an admiralty lawyer before he became blind and settled into a withdrawn life in the once fashionable brownstone home of his brother, was found dead of heart disease in the house Friday.

Langley Collyer last was seen on the stoop of the house Thursday. It had been his habit to go out at night to obtain food for himself and his brother. The family had owned the house since 1909.

Police Inspector Joseph Goldstein, in charge of the search, said that "we will be working on the assemption that Langley Collyer is in the building, either alive in a weakened condition, or dead."

AMISH FARMER CHARGES HE'S BOYCOTT VICTIM

Say Sect Turned Against Him Because of Auto Buying.

By The Associated Press

WOOSTER, O., March 24—An Amish farmer complained in Wayne county common pleas court today that certain members of his sect had employed a social and business boycott against him for the last four years.

Reason for the boycott, said 32-year-old Andrew J. Yoder in his petition, was because he bought an automobile in 1942 to transport his small daughter, an infantile paralysis victim, from his home south of Dalton to Wooster for treatment.

Rules of the church do not permit members to own or operate cars.

Yoder, suing John Helmuth, bishop of the old order Amish Mennonite church, for $40,000, said the church had imposed article 17 after he "withdrew."

The article requires all members to refrain from trading with, working for, eating with, buying from or selling to any expelled members.

Now a member of the Bunker Hill conservative Amish church, Yoder said the boycott should not apply because he withdrew and was not expelled.

LONG-TIME EMPLOYE OF MARION CO. DIES

Mrs. Perle Craig Was Courthouse Clerk Many Years.

Mrs. Virginia Perle Craig, 72, a Marion county employe many years and a resident of 229 Chase street, died at 7 a. m. Sunday in the Riffee rest home on Bellefontaine avenue. She had lived at the rest home about six months. Suffering from a heart ailment, she was seriously ill ten days.

She started her public career in 1892 at the age of 16 in the office of county recorder. Later she became the first clerk to serve in the county commissioners' office. Later she was in the offices of the auditor and in the county health office from which she retired in the fall of 1944.

Shortly after the death of her father, William Garfield, Mrs. Craig, then Miss Perle Garfield, decided on a career as a business woman and took up the duties of clerk in the office of Willis E. Weston, county recorder. Mr. Weston died a few weeks ago. From there, she transferred to the office of County Auditor, L. M. Hipsher. Sept. 1, 1904, she became clerk in the commissioners' office.

Sept. 22, 1918, she married L. E. Craig, and remained in the commissioners' office until the following July when she resigned. Mr. and Mrs. Caig lived in Columbus where the former was adjuster with the Ohio Casualty Insurance Co. until his death Dec. 3, 1928.

Mrs. Craig returned to a public office here March 1, 1932, when she became clerk in the office of Dr. N. Sifritt, county health commissioner. She served on the city board of health in the administration of the late mayor Dop Jones.

Born Nov. 21, 1874, at Bellville, she was a daughter of William and Mary Jane Gerhart Garfield. She came to Marion from Bellville with her parents Sept. 23, 1891. She was a member of Epworth Methodist church and at one time was treasurer of the Inasmuch circle of King's Daughters.

After her retirement, she lived two years in New York where a niece, Mrs. James G. Couffer of Scarsdale, N. Y., her only surviving close relative, makes her home. She returned to Marion last June on a visit, then decided she would remain here.

Funeral services have been arranged for Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street. Dr. V. E. Busler, pastor of Epworth church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Marion mausoleum. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 tonight.

TRUMAN CALLS NIGHT MEETING

To Confer with Bi-Partisan Leaders at 8 P. M. Today.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 24 — President Truman will meet with the bi-partisan congressional "Big Six" in a unprecedented night meeting at the White House tonight.

The meeting, to be held in the residential part of the Executive Mansion, is set for 8 p. m. The White House did not disclose the reasons for the conference.

The "big six" is made up of four Republicans and two Democrats, as follows:

Senator Vandenberg, (Mich), president pro tempore of the senate; Senate Majority Leader White (Maine); House Speaker Martin (Mass); House Majority Leader Halleck (Ind); Senate Minority Leader Barkley (Ky), and House Minority Leader Rayburn (Tex).

Called by Truman

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the meeting was called by Mr. Truman.

He explained that it was originally planned for this morning, but then delayed until tonight to suit the convenience of the congressional leaders.

"It just happened that this week," the Capital Hill people preferred to meet at night," Ross said.

Asked if the meeting related to the President's appeal for $400,000,000 to aid Greece and Turkey, Ross said he could not give any information on the agenda for the conference.

No Formal Agenda

"In fact, there is no formal agenda for any of these meetings," Ross added.

He said further that he did not expect Mr. Truman to issue any statement following the meeting.

Other White House sources said the meeting was not called in connection with the Greek situation, but pointed out there is nothing to prevent the matter from being brought up during the course of the conference.

Ross announced also that President Truman will hold a news conference at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday.

NATION'S LONGEST STRIKE CONCLUDED

By The Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, March 24—The longest major strike in the nation, UAW-CIO Local 248's bitter and spasmodically bloody struggle at the home plant of the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co., ended without a settlement today as lines of production workers filed quietly into the vast works.

West Allis Police Capt. Harvey G. Dieckhoff said htere were no clashes between union men and employes who remained at work or returned to their jobs during the 328-day-old strike.

Members of Local 248 who filed into the 155-acre plant today began receiving an 18½ cent per hour wage increase which nonstrikers had been getting since last August. By company estimate the strike cost $85,000,000 in lost production and wages.

The strikers returned without a contract. Only 1,500, by union count, voted in yesterday's balloting and union spokesmen said members favored returning by 3 to 1.

When the strike started last April 30 the union claimed 11,000 members. An independent union, formed while strike was in progress, however, mustered more than 4,000 votes at a Jan. 28 bargaining election.

Still unsettled were union demands for a 25 cent hourly wage hike, union shop and union control of grievance procedure.

The vote was followed by warlike statements in which both the

Schools in City and County Reopened; Absences Reduced

All Marion city schools were reopened for classes this morning with 17.44 per cent of the total enrollment still reported absent. However, attendance is greatly improved over the 28 per cent absent last Monday when the schools were closed at noon. E. E. Holt, school superintendent, reported that the normal absence at this time of the year is around seven or eight per cent.

Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, after being consulted, advised that the schools remain in session and continue classes.

Mr. Holt reported 999 pupils absent out of the total enrollment of 5,728, and also seven teachers.

County Schools Reopen

The eight county schools closed last week reopened this morning and attendance was reported improved. However, the first and second grades of Grand Prairie school were dismissed this morning until Wednesday when the teacher was reported absent along with about 50 per cent of the pupils. The other grades are remaining in session.

St. Mary Parochial school also reopened this morning after being closed since Wednesday noon and reported only 52 pupils absent, which is approximately 11 per cent of the enrollment. Very few pupils were reported absent in the high school grades.

Other County Reports

Other schools in the county from which reports were received this morning were Pleasant with about 50 pupils absent out of the enrollment of 326, and Kirkpatrick with about 22 per cent absent. Both reported attendance is better than last week and will continue classes.

Urges End To Rent Controls

Property Owners' Spokesman Says Ceiling Lift Would Aid Housing.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 24—An end to rent controls was urged today by Arthur W. Binns, president of the National Home and Property Owners foundation.

Claiming to represent a nationwide organization of property owners, Binns told the house banking commitee that continuation of rent ceilings for another year as proposed in pending legislation would strangle the rental housing industry and aggravate the shortage of homes.

The legislation, he said, in a prepared statement, proposes to give freedom to the home construction and rental industry while at the same time it would "extend the stranglehold of rent control."

Asks 15 Per Cent

Binns said his organization would support legislation allowing owners of rented property any increase of not less than 15 per cent to compensate for "the tremendous increase in costs they have suffered since the rent freeze went into effect."

Since January, 1941, when rents were put under control, the average living costs of property owners have increased 64 per cent, he claimed, while residential rents have risen less than 4 per cent.

Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate boards, told the committee that risk capital "just cannot be expected to invest in rental construction with the threat of continued controls and continued economic discrimination which will prohibit a reasonable return on the investment."

7-Point Plan Suggested

The national association of real estate boards, Nelson said, does not advocate complete decontrol of rents "at one fell blow" but suggests this program.

1. An immediate 15 per cent across the board increase in rents.
2. Termination of all rent controls not later than April 30, 1948.
3. Immediate removal of rent controls on new construction and conversions.
4. No controls on properties which have not been rented since Feb. 1, 1946.
5. Immediate decontrol of accommodations renting over $225 a month.
6. Evictions to be brought under local law.
7. Courts of local jurisdiction to award triple damages or $500 whichever is greater, to tenants in the event of owners' violation.

LOSS NEARLY $4,000 AS STOVE EXPLODES

Flaming Oil Causes Blaze That Destroys House.

Fire caused by an oil stove explosion at noon yesterday destroyed the home of Allen Blankenship on the north end of Bryan street just outside of the city limits.

The major fire of the year, Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt estimated the loss between $3,500 and $4,000.

Mrs. Blankenship had been preparing the noon meal for her family on the stove when it blew up. Blankenship and a son were in bed at the time. Both ran downstairs when they heard the report. Witnesses said he narrowly avoided being trapped in the flames. A neighbor attempted to help control the fire before firemen arrived but was unable to enter the house.

When firemen arrived the fire was out of control and they protected the other houses in the area from the flames.

Mrs. Blankenship and her son both suffered burns and first aid was administered by firemen.

Another fire yesterday resulted in considerable damage to an auto owned by Ray Wilson of 231 Lincoln avenue. Gasoline leaked from the feed line onto the motor block burning the engine and causing an estimated loss of $250. It occured in front of 451 Merchant avenue at 5:14 p. m.

Saturday firemen made runs to the home of Harold J. Richards on 451 Avondale avegue at 8:36 p. m. and to the home of Jessie Gottshall at 185 Fairview at 9:27 p. m.

Chimneys had burned out at both residences and there was no loss in either case.

FEDERAL INSPECTION OF GUARD UNIT SET

Co. C Applies for Federal Recognition.

Second Army inspectors from Fort Hayes in Columbus will inspect personnel and records of the Marion company of the Ohio National Guard, now being organized here, Tuesday afternoon and evening, according to Captain Robert F. Melby, commanding officer of the local group.

The group, designated as Co. C, now has enough officers and enlisted men to apply for federal recognition. Tomorrow's inspection may result in recognition being granted, Melby said.

The armory and records will be inspected during the afternoon and personnel of the new unit will be inspected at 8 p. m. Interested persons are invited to attend the inspection.

The inspection will not interfere with regular drill of Co. M., Ohio State Guard.

There are still non-commissioned officer ratings available in the company for qualified men, Melby announced. He added that a veteran may have held a rating in another branch than the infantry and still be eligible for non-commissioned rank in the company.

The unit now numbers 24 enlisted men, about one third of them veterans. Three officers are Capt. Melby, First Lieutenant Louis B. Snively and First Lieutenant William M. Bogart. Millard K. Moreland is first sergeant.

RUSS ACTIONS BAR TO UNITY

Congress Told U. S. Must Build Up Her Half of Country Alone.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 24—Undersecretary of State Acheson said today that the United States must invest funds to put southern Korea on a sound economic basis because Russia has blocked any agreement for a unified government of that country.

Acheson mentioned this prospect when testifying before the senate foreign relations committee in support of President Truman's plan to bulwark Greece and Turkey against Communism.

He did not say how much the Korean project may cost, but said the war, state and navy departments are considering it.

Russ Have Resources

Soviet troops occupy the northern half of the country, which contains most of Korea's natural resources, Acheson said. He added that it would be a "struggle" to put the southern part of the country, now occupied by American troops, on its economic feet.

"We have attempted for more than a year to reach an agreement with Soviet Russia for a unified government of the country but have not been able to do so," Acheson commented. "Failure presents a very serious problem."

He said it was "not at all clear" how much money would be needed but he promised that when the state, war and navy departments completed an estimate of the situation, congress will be asked to pass on any expenditures to be made.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) asked if this parallels the same sort of aid the President proposed to extend to Greece and Turkey.

Situations Not Same

Acheson said the situations are not exactly parallel.

The acting cabinet officer told the senators there are no plans to send troops to Greece or Turkey and hinted strongly that the proposed $400,000,000 of aid for the two countries may have to be a gift.

Acheson and assistant Secretary of State Will Clayton testified before senate and house committees respectively as congress examined President Truman's request for authority to bolster the Greek and Turkish governments against Communist aggression.

Their testimony came against a background of weekend publication of American documents charging that Russia is promoting Communist control of both Greece and Turkey.

Clayton, testifying before the house foreign affairs committee, said that all but $150,000,000 of the $400,000,000 proposed total would go into military expenditures. And he said that assistance for military purposes, "being essential to our own security," should be an outright grant.

Rules Out Loan Possibility

Acheson, in testimony to the senate foreign relations committees, apparently ruled out the idea of a loan by saying that "Greece" is not in a position to borrow; it is in a state of collapse and it must be put on a sound financial basis."

While the congressional hearings were underway, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters that there had been no new developments at the White House on the Greek-Turkish situation.

He professed no knowledge when a reporter asked about a report that Trygve Lie, secretary general of United Nations, might be coming to Washington to discuss the proposed American aid.

He said he knew of no steps to notify the United Nations of the projected American action.

The latter point was raised with Acheson by Senator Vandenberg.

To the senator's question as to whether there were any plans to notify the United Nations, Acheson replied that this government can't very well tell any international organization its intention until congress decides final policy by supporting or rejecting the President's proposal.

Calls for Notification

Observing that the projected aid to the two Mediterranean countries "goes far beyond the bounds of these parallels," Vandenberg said he thinks it would be a "matter of comity" to tell UN this nation's plans after congress acts.

"That would be a desirable thing to do," Acheson replied.

As he did in previous testimony before the house group, Acheson stressed that Greece might collapse if the United States waited for the United Nations to extend help.

On the point of whether troops would be sent to Greece or Turkey, Acheson said: "We have not

Old Shell Game Pays Off on Florida Island

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

SANIBEL ISLAND, March 24—A fourteen-mile stretch of dazzling white beach an this small island off Florida's west coats is the mecca of American shell collectors.

And they come here by the hundreds each year—kids, retired millionaires, fat dignified old ladies, Army generals and tincan tourists.

But there is no rank or distinction among shell collectors. Like so many seagulls or pelicans they skim along the beach, looking for choice tidbits of shell thrown up by the sea.

Hal Boyle

Because it lies athwart the northward push of the Gulf of Mexico, Sanibel is one of the three best shell beaches in the world. Each receding tide leaves literally tons of shell-dwelling marine life stranded on the sands.

Get $2.25 Per Bushel

Before dawn commercial shell men go out to harvest the overnight crop. They get $2.25 a bushel for the shells, sold in lime stores and gift shops as ash trays and souvenirs.

The hobbyists look offended if you ask what the shells are worth, but more than one elderly lady has gone into an island gift shop and furtively forked over $5 to $15 for a pretty spotted junonia shell to match the one her neighbor found on the beach. Rarest shell is the "Glory of the Sea," worth $1,000 up.

Since many shells contain living organisms, they must first be boiled, then cleaned with muriatic acid to remove all lime deposits. An oil rub brings out the sea-fresh colors.

Race To Beach

Winter residents seeking rarities among the 360 types of shell washed up here race each other to the beach after early breakfasts. Eyes down intent on their search, dowagers who have known each other for a quarter of a century pass without speaking. Some wade out into the retreating surf to gather a prize.

A newcomer holds up what seems to him a pretty shell.

"Hmmph—cardium robustum," sniffs a pitying oldtimer. That's her way of saying the "heart shell" is too common to bother with. Like most of the faithful she lapses into Latin when she speaks of shell.

But they have nice American names too—like Scotch Bonnet, Paper Shell, Angel Wings and Lady's Ear.

Put On Exhibit

Once a year the islanders and winter presidents put on a three-day shell exhibit. Collectors from almost every state in the union attend.

Joining the beachcombers during a recent morning shell hunt was Lieut. Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer, former American army commander in the China theater.

"It's fascinating," he said.

Visitors who like the isolated island's simple charm hope it will remain out of the main stream of tourist traffic.

Sanibel now has a permanent population of only 77 — mostly guides, fisherman and lighthouse keepers. Half a century ago 200 families created a profitable tomato growing industry here but hurricanes washed their fields with ruinous salt. Most families returned to the mainland.

300 Types of Birds

Three hundred types of bird thrive on the island which is a game preserve, including 30 of approximately 100 roseate spoonbills left in the United States.

The chief source of revenue is the colony of elderly winter residents who come here year after year.

"Many people here are retired—and all are tired," smiled Louis Webb, former Louisville, Ky., telephone executive who serves as unofficial mayor.

"We have no local taxes, no doctors, no firemen, no law enforcement officers, and no crime—at least none that we know about."

Asked if he collected shells, Webb said with marked emphasis: "I do not. I fish."

Refugee Receives Coat from Marion Store Long Closed

Two Marion brothers, who operated a clothing store here more than 50 years before retiring about 10 years ago, recently received a letter from Austria thanking them for an overcoat bearing the trademark of their firm.

They are B. E. and S. G. Klinemaier of 458 and 434 South State street, respectively. They did not send the coat, but it apparently had been purchased from them at some time. The letter was posted by Han Koldt of Unterhaching, near Munich on Jan. 31. He describes himself as a refugee from Czechoslovakia.

The letter follows:

Dear Sir:

Through the Cralog Help Org. I received a winter overcoat bearing the trade mark of your house. Although I'm not quite sure that this was your gift I want to thank you. You have no idea what such a present means to me under the present circumstances. I and my family of four persons are refugees from Czechoslovakia. When we arrived here we were literally without any means, clothing, etc. and were looking anxiously toward the approaching winter. Thanks to the kindness of so many people in the world, especially Americans, we got some things we most urgently need and so I got this coat.

By this letter I want to show you that we appreciate your kindness and wish to thank you most sincerely. God bless you and your family and all the people in the world who are trying to help us.

Marlow Adds Up Work Done By Congress In Current Session

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, March 24 — How's congress been up to? It's here and there. But it's getting to its

James Marlow

Labor—

Four weeks house and senate committees have been hearing testimony for and against.

They've writing the bills. The house and senate will have to vote on them. No one knows when.

Taxes—

The house ways and means committee—its job is handling taxes—has been doing lots more talking than actnig.

Last week it finally made up its mind some taxes should be cut 20 per cent for small taxpayers, 20 per cent for nearly all others.

The full house may vote on that this week. Then the senate, later, will have to vote. It may disagree. That will take more time.

Lilienthal—

David E. Lilienthal was nominated by President Truman to head this country's new atomic energy commission of five men.

Because congress wasn't in session yet when Mr. Truman made the appointments, all five men actually are at work.

But they can't keep their jobs unless the full senate approves. And the senate told its atomic energy committee to look into Lilienthal's qualifications, particularly.

It did, in one of the most long, drawn-out quizzings of one man in recent times. What made it long, drawn-out was Senator McKellar, Tennessee Democrat.

McKellar, an enemy of Lilienthal but not a committee member, asked committee permission to question the man. He did, for weeks.

The committee finally stopped McKellar, voted 8 to 1 for Lilienthal. But the full senate still must approve. It may do so this week, after a fight on the floor.

Portal Pay—

House and senate used up much time passing bills to knock out back-pay claims of CIO unions against employers.

President Truman may veto what congress did here. That will kill the idea unless congress repasses a portal bill by two-thirds vote over the veto. This is entirely likely because the bills passed both houses by well over two-thirds margins.

Sugar and Rent—

Under present law the government's power to ration sugar ends March 31 and its power over prices and rents ends June 30.

President Truman says it's "urgent" that congress continue those powers beyond those dates.

Congress hasn't made up its mind yet.

Money for the Government—

This is one of the big, slow jobs every year: deciding how much money the government needs to keep running.

Committees have been quizzing government officials for weeks on this, will keep on quizzing for weeks to come.

They'll reach their decisions on each department, one by one. They've just finished up on the labor department.

The full house may soon vote on the labor department's money. Then the senate may vote, and disagree.

It will go on like that, department by department, probably late into June.

Until the last money is voted for the last department, congress won't know exactly how much money it's voted to run the government for the fiscal year starting July 1.

That's why all the talk about cutting the budget is just talk. Mr. Truman told congress the government needs $37,500,000,000 to operate in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Republicans in house and senate want to cut down that budget figure. But they can't decide how much.

They may decide to make it $5,000,000,000 or $6,000,000,000 now but—

How much actually has been cut won't be known till the last money has been voted for the last department next June.

Women's Circle Meets In Prospect School

Special to The Star

PROSPECT—The Prospect Circle of the Child Conservation League met Thursday evening at the school. Devotions were presented by Mrs. Robert Evans. Papers were presented by Mrs. Robert Emery and Mrs. Dale Fields.

The following officers were elected to serve the circle for the coming year: president, Mrs. V. J. Briegel; vice president, Mrs. H. M. Members of the Child Research club of Marion will be guests at the April meeting which will be held in the school.

Club Votes Gifts To Red Cross, Cancer Clinic

Contributions were made to the Red Cross and to the Marion Cancer clinic when the Business and Professional Women's club met in "Our House," Epworth Methodist youth center, Wednseday night.

Arrangements were discussed for bringing to Marion the Harmonaires, radio station WLW musicians, for a concert April 15 in Edison Junior High school auditorium. URGES QUALITY BASIS FOR TEACHERS' PAY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 24—Rep. Walter L. Tarr (R-Cincinnati) declared more students would be attracted to the teaching profession if teachers' salaries were "based entirely upon the quality of their instruction and not upon the degrees they have acquired."

With three other speakers, Tarr discussed "Our school children—are we doing right by them?" on the Columbus town meeting broadcast Sunday.

Alfred A. Benesch, a member of the Cleveland board of education, expressed the opinion teachers coddled pupils by overstressing abstract subjects and understressing vital and concrete subjects.

Standards of rural and urban school should be "equalized and maintained," Stanley Stowe, chairman of the executive committee of the Ohio State Grange, said.

Carl C. Byers, superintendent of Parma (O.) schools, asserted "The human race seems to have improved everything except people."

Motive for Cleveland Bombing Eludes Police

CLEVELAND, March 24—Police were unable to establish a motive today for the bombing of the home of Joseph L. Zelazny, solicitor of suburban Garfield Heights.

Zelazny, however, declared he had "an idea in my own mind" concerning a possible motive.

"I am working with the police on it and I hope to have the help of the federal bureau of investigation," he said. He declined to comment further.

The blast, which could be heard more than two miles away, occurred early yesterday. It jarred the house and wrecked the front door directly under the bedroom of Zelazny's two sons, who were asleep alone in the house. They were uninjured. Mr. and Mrs. Zelazny were visiting friends at the time of the explosion.

Business Men Will Agree On This . . .

When the head of any business is actively on the job, he can find many ways to give better service and keep costs down. That same formula applies equally with a funeral director. It has been working effectively since the day our Funeral Home was opened. It is one of the reasons why an independent audit showed our cost of operation to be far lower than the average funeral establishment. Nor have we offered less in service to gain that end. Our air conditioning, the Everett organ and other such items are evidence of this.

One result of our effort is that many Marion families have had more for their money in funeral service. Another is that an increasing number have been turning to this organization for that reason.

She addressed a letter to ... praising the care with ... names are protected from the weather by means of glass and suggesting a symbolism for the gold and black color scheme of the name plates.

The writer, Mrs. Helen A. Taylor of Birmingham, Mich., said the gold seemed to her to symbolize sunshine and the bright goal toward which these young men were working, but whose dreams and ambitions were quite suddenly disrupted by the ominous war clouds, represented by the black background on which the plates are mounted.

She was also impressed by the out-stretched winged eagle surmounting the honor roll and the wreaths placed before it.

"It all formed a composite picture in my mind of what an honor roll is truly meant to be and your city may well be proud of it," she concluded.

Presbyterian Society Circle Entertained

Circle 2 of the First Presbyterian church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. George Bechtel on West Columbia street. Fifteen members answered roll call on the subject, "Quotations of Loyalty." The Lord's Prayer by the group opened the meeting and Mrs. Bechtel gave a report on the work of the missionaries and conducted devotions. Mrs. Juanita Smith, leader, read a poem and gave a report of the general aid. The afternoon was spent in making potholders for the kitchen at the City hospital.

Mrs. H. E. Webster was in charge of the program, and presented a paper on "What It Means To Be a Friend." A hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," was sung by the group. A contest prize was won by Mrs. Hubert Turner. An announcement was made that the program committee will meet Monday with Mrs. Harry Thompson on South Prospect street to plan for the programs next year.

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATIONS

IN THE CHRIST OF THE CROSS WE GLORY

Today's Text: The power of an endless life." Hebrews 7:16.

TO THE two men of Emmaus the life of Jesus did not seem to be an endless one. But when they "received Him" who "is alive for evermore" they had within the power of an endless life. "And he that liveth an dbelieveth in Me shall never die." When Jesus rose from the dead He proved the ability of the believer to live in spite of death. Then, take courage, fellow Christian, for death can no more hold you than it could hold the Christ of the Cross.

Every converted sinner is a witness that He lives. Jn. 5:26. And He can save to the uttermost, for He ever liveth to make intercession. Heb. 7:25. Because Christ continues to live, we shall continue to live. Jn. 14:18. The ever-living Vine sustains the ever-abiding branch. The power of His endless life dwells in every Believer by the Holy Spirit. "As many as receive Him to them gives He power to become the sons of God." The Christ of Calvary is my assurance of an endless life.

Pastor, Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church.

Life-Saving Sulfonamides

It's an old and very wonderful story that the sulfonamide drugs have saved the lives of thousands of people suffering from a wide variety of infections. What is newer is the fact that, helpful as they are, these drugs may also have every now and then unpleasant reactions. For this reason they should always be used with care and under the direction of the physician.

Skin rashes of various kinds seem particularly to result from the use of sulfonamide drugs. Together with the rash there may be fever, neuralgia, headache and chills.

Sometimes the skin rash appears within a few hours after the patient starts to take the drug. In other instances from one to two weeks may pass before my skin disturbance appears.

According to Dr. Osgoode S. Philpott of Denver, the skin rash may be in the form of a redness of the skin much like that which occurs in scarlet fever. In other cases there may be swellings varying in size from a pea to a dollar, appearing on the arms and legs, face and neck.

Sometimes there is a rash like hives. In other cases, there may be swelling of the lips together with a great deal of itching. In still other instances there may be a rash like eczema, particularly affecting the arms and legs. Now and then there may be a pimple-like eruption with the formation of some blisters.

Not only may these various types of rash develop when the sulfonamide drugs are taken by mouth, but also when they are applied locally to a skin ulcer, a burn or other skin disorders.

In treating these skin conditions due to the sulfonamide drugs, of course, the first thing to do is to stop the use of the drug. Some physicians have found that the giving of large doses of vitamin C may be helpful. The patient should also take plenty of fluids in order to help ward off any blockage of the flow of urine, due to collection of crystals of the sulfonamide drug in the kidneys. Cool compresses and soothing lotions may be applied to the affected parts of the skin, if necessary to relieve the symptoms.

If the physician is in doubt as to whether or not a skin rash is due to one of the sulfonamide drugs the simplest test which he makes is to stop the use of the drug. If there is a prompt improvement when the drug is stopped it almost definitely proves that the rash is due to the sulfonamide preparation.

The fact that these reactions occur, of course, does not mean that such drugs should be avoided but it does mean that they should be carefully employed.

EVER WONDER HOW YOU MIGHT SPEND A MILLION DOLLARS A DAY?

During 1946, The Equitable Society distributed 287 million dollars in benefits to policyholders and their families—an average of more than a million dollars for each workday in the year.

What better use could you make of such a huge sum of money than to make it serve some basic human need . . . to help keep a family together when tragedy strikes, to send a child to college or start a son in business, to assure financial independence to someone in the twilight years of life?

The 287 million dollars paid out by The Equitable Society during 1946 was used for just such purposes as these. Widows, children and other beneficiaries, for instance, received 101 million toward their support. Another 35 million was paid out as retirement income. Through Group Insurance, benefits of over 56 million in death, disability and pension payments helped relieve distress in workers' families. Other benefits, including dividends to policyholders, totaled 95 million dollars.

To its 3,500,000 members throughout the land, The Equitable Society is the promise of family security. Joined together in this great co-operative enterprise, they have increased the amount of life insurance they have in force by over 1350 million dollars during 1946 . . . now own over 10½ billion dollars worth of peace of mind.

Dividends Reduce Cost

The benefit payments distributed by The Equitable Society over the years, together with the funds held to fulfill present policies, exceed by 1300 million dollars the total amount of premiums received by the Society since its founding. This year alone nearly 52 million dollars has been set aside for payment to policyholders as dividends; thus reducing the net cost of their protection.

By investing more of their earnings in life insurance than ever before, the American people are achieving a two-fold objective. Aside from the primary purpose of providing systematically in advance for their future security, they are helping to combat the inflationary forces at work in our economy.

Preserve Value of Dollar

The decline in the "real" value of the dollar continues to be a matter of major concern to all thinking Americans. In the interest of its policyholders and all other people of our country, the management of The Equitable Society will continue to urge the adoption of a national fiscal policy which will preserve the "real" value of the savings of the American people.

Who Killed OPA?

THOSE who argued that the way to stabilize the cost of living was to get rid of OPA because it interfered with production are being taunted with their apparent failure. It is being charged against them that they killed OPA and thereby raised the cost of living.

There are four things wrong with the accusation.

1. OPA was not killed. It died. The issue was whether to bury it, or let it decay above ground at the expense of enterprise which needed to be released from the red tape of price and profit regulation.

2. The cost of living continues to be an indeterminate factor. It is an absolute factor only in the hands of those who want to prove something. The cost of living is not rising for everybody for the simple reason that millions of Americans cannot premit it to rise.

3. Many prices have gone up sharply and haven't come down. Some have gone up and come down. Others didn't go up at all. Some are still rising and may not stop rising for a long time. Generalizations about prices are as tricky as generalizations about the cost of living.

4. It was never claimed that prices would be reduced immediately if OPA were disposed of. It only was claimed that prices could not be reduced until supply satisfied demand, and that this could not happen while OPA regulations were interfering with production. Eventually, OPA would have to be buried, unless the United States intended to practice price and profit regulation, the argument ran, so why not bury it now? The longer the government held on, the harder it would be to let go—a prediction that has been borne out by its experience with sugar.

The Veterans' Bonus

OHIOANS will have an opportunity to vote in November on a bonus for the state's veterans of World War II. The legislation taking shape at Columbus provides $10 for each month of service, with a maximum and a minimum of $50. Immediate survivors of war dead would be paid $500.

The method of financing the cost, estimated at $400,000,000, will be announced in a few days. New York state residents are to vote on a bonus proposal calling for a similar amount, the total to be raised by increased taxes on cigarets, gasoline, liquor, public utilities and incomes.

A referendum is the only way of ascertaining whether it is the wish of the people of Ohio to pay a bonus to the state's veterans. Give them the facts as to what it will involve in new taxes, how long it will take to pay off the indebtedness plus interest charges, and what percentage of taxpayers are veterans themselves and who in effect by accepting bonuses will be transferring money from one pocket to another. If the voters, among whom there are plenty of veterans, decide it's worth it, then pay the veterans a bonus.

Meanwhile, there are things the veteran deserves more than a bonus. He deserves an opportunity to buy something better than a four-room house with unfinished attic for $8,500. Less specifically, he deserves that different social groups subordinate their selfish interests just as he subordinated his. He deserves legislators and executives who are intelligent and honest. He deserves wise laws fairly administered. He deserves, in brief, the best America and the best world that can be built.

Those are less tangible things than cash in pocket, but more important in the long run. They are things that were promised him while he was in uniform. No referendum can make them real, only a resolve to live up to the fine promises made when the veteran was in uniform and was everybody's fair-haired boy.

The German Federation

IF THE PROPOSAL of the United States and Great Britain for a German federation is approved, that form of government will be nothing new for Germany.

The old German empire, progenitor of Hitler's reich, originally was a confederation of states. The plan worked fine, with customs unions and freedom of trade, from 1806, when Napoleon Bonaparte disbanded the Holy Roman Empire, until the 1848 revolutions, when the German assembly dismissed its parliament and elected the King of Prussia as its ruler.

From then on, Prussia's star was in the ascendant and the other members of the federation became satellites. With Bismarck, the specialist in "realpolitik" and the quick end-around play at quarterback, Austria was blocked out of the play and Prussianism and German militarism became synonymous.

The federation was no more. The King of Prussia became the German Kaiser. The first mad scramble for "a place in the sun" was on, followed not too long afterwards by a bloody bid for "lebensraum."

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Mallon Elaborates View on Christian Dictatorship.

WASHINGTON, March 24—A Rabbi Benjamin Schultz of Yonkers has wired me asking authority to quote some recent slight report in this spot on the possibility of Christian dictatorship in America in event of depression—a report gleaned from travel and talk among many American leaders. He wanted to use my report in his column in the Jewish Post. The thought then occurred to me that I had been guilty of inadequate reporting, that the simple reference was easily subject to sectarian misinterpretation. So I wrote Rabbi Schultz a complete report on what I had found, which is substantially this:

Only two important politico-religious forces are vying with each other to lead and control world thought—the God respecting people on one side and the atheists of Communism on the other. The preponderant majority of people in all America, but particularly in the United States and Canada, are Christian in customs, principles and in their essential ideology. If some future depression hinders the operation of their political democracy, and they are forced to seek refuge in strongarm government, it is wholly unlikely that they would renounce their basic principles and accept atheism or Communism. As the large majority of the people are Christian they are unquestionably likely to work out some Christian method to meet their needs for government. In all reasonable expectations then, any future totalitarianism in this nation is apt to be Christian in essence.

I found this feeling among many men, although I must confess not among all our leaders. Some expected Communism and atheism to supplant and inspire any future political change. My own opinion runs strongly against that possibility. For specific instance, the unions have created political action groups which have failed to dispel Communist influence in their midst. Yet their leaders adhere to the Christian philosophy and some are active members of churches. I do not believe the majority of the union membership today wants Communism or atheism, and among them the Communist and atheist movement has reached its high water mark.

But the Christian civilization under which we live is nonsectarian. Its basic principle is freedom of worship and freedom not to worship. It does not embrace only churchgoers of the various sects, but a great many people who do not go to any church, yet believe in God. Naturally also it embraces similarly the great number of God-fearing Jews who have attained greater success under this civilization (and in our own nation) than in any other civilization in all the past history of the world. Never in Greek, Roman, medieval or any modern civilization has the Jew attained the position he now holds here. This cannot be denied. We have a civilization which is distinctly not antisemitic.

Marx Philosophy

The evidence about Russia is somewhat mixed, but Communism is distinctly antisemitic. Marx may have been a Jew, but he was certainly not Jewish. His basic principle was that to destroy capitalism, it would first be necessary to destroy human belief in God, that all religion was the opiate which kept the people down, the Jewish religion as well as all others, Mohammedan, Buddhist, etc. He preached worship of the state, which is the basic Communist and Nazi philosophy, and worship of self. Russia is silent, for political reasons, no doubt, but I notice the refugees who packed Palestine came considerably from Russian controlled zones. Some accounts of a few years back suggest there were many Jews in the makeup of the top Russian committees, but I have seen more current reports, indicating only that a high placed woman in Russia is responsible for the tolerance of Semitism.

Yet it stands to reason that any anticapitalist movement, springing from atheism, must be antisemitic, must wish to destroy the position which so many Jews have reached in power and prominence of capitalism. If capitalism ever fails, the Jewish leaders will suffer in banking and commerce as great a loss as the Nazis inflicted in Germany, or greater.

The kremlin changes policies, but never purposes. It has even espoused some Christian sects temporarily to effect easier its basic Marxist design. But it is bound to be just as anti-Jewish in long-range purposes as it is anti-Christian.

These points which I found expressed among our people should be cleared up for my friend Rabbi Schultz, whose column I have not yet seen.

Just a Minute

Now It's the Indian Who'll Get Scalped

The Minnesota legislature has removed the ban on the sale of whiskey to Indians.

Now the red man can get feathered again.

Originally passed in fear that, sufficiently fortified with firewater, the Indian might get ideas about taking back the country, the law plainly is no longer needed. He couldn't get that drunk.

The Indian was once considered a public ward who had to be protected by the government from exploitation and hangovers. There's no need worrying about anyone taking advantage of the modern redskin, as anyone can testify who has ever bought a blanket from him.

The Indian has long since been accepted as an American citizen. As such, he is entitled to all our rights, privileges and intoxicants.

Of course, once he finds out what they're charging for drinks these days, he's liable to go back on the warpath.

The Indians sold New York for $24 worth of trinkets and three barrels of whiskey. At today's prices, they drove a hard bargain.

Shaving Faces the Future

By HARRY A. McCREA

THE advertisements say a new-type dry shaver has been invented. It is about as large as a pocket-size cigaret lighter, has no wires or batteries, can be carried in the vest pocket and can be unobtrusively palmed and used at odd moments.

This opens whole new vistas of possibilities in the field of American behavior and modes. Maybe it even goes deeper than that.

For example: A fellow who gets up too late to shave in the morning can sneak a quick one while at his desk, running the shaver over his cheeks in such a way that it will look as if he is meditatively stroking his chin. The boss will see him and say, "Mighty good man, Frobisher. Thinks a lot. Always looks clean-shaven, too. Maybe we'd better see about moving him up a rung."

This will happen thousands of times. As a result, Americans become a race of chin-strokers. Chin stroking induces thought. The quality of American thought improves. Philosophers spring up on all sides. Hegel, Kant and Spinoza are relegated to the minor leagues. The science of mathematics thrives. Einstein becomes just one of the boys. America enters it Golden, or Vest Pocket Shaver, Age.

Or consider another possibility: When a couple is in a public place, he can take out his little wizard whisker nipper and have a once-over-lightly, while she makes sure her mouth is on straight and her coiffure isn't degenerating into a fright wig.

The sight of this grisly ritual will be the last straw for people who were getting fed up with civilization anyway, and there will be an exodus to the Black Hills, Wyoming and the Minnesota lake country. The emphasis will be on the simple virtues. Copies of Thoreau's "Walden" won't be available for love or money. Left to people of the type who primp in public, the cities will deteriorate into rubble heaps and the gregarious populations of today will give way to an agrarian society of soil tillers, woodsdwellers and eremitic navel-contemplaters.

Beards will become the style again and the only place a shaving device can be seen will be the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, the only city of importance to survive. And nobody will go there unless he has to.

NO LONGER ABOVE THE LAW

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, March 24, 1937.

Despite decisive rejection by the house of legislation to increase taxing power of counties and cities, Gov. Martin L. Davey stood pat on his demand that local governments match state relief funds dollar for dollar.

More than 6,000 boys and girls of public and parochial schools began a week's spring vacation. The county school pupils were to have no spring vacation and would be dismissed early for the summer.

The Ohio senate paused to congratulate Dr. C. J. Nichols, dean of Ohio dentists and former mayor of Marion, on his eighty-seventh birthday anniversary, which was the day before. Dr. Nichols, who had served as sergeant-at-arms in the Ohio senate, was in the City hospital suffering from a broken hip received in a fall at his home the preceding Saturday.

The day marked the 60th anniversary of the first issue of the first daily newspaper published in Marion, the "Marion Daily Pebble." S. E. Smith, dean of printers in the composing room of The Marion Star, as a lad of 13, helped get out the first edition and delivered it to Marion homes.

"Three-fourths of the people of America are asleep while movements are under way that may destroy our freedom," Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade told an audience of 350 perssons in a joint meeting of Marion city and county school teachers at the Masonic temple.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, March 24, 1927.

The U. S. destroyers, Noa and William B. Preston, dropped shells around Nanking, China as a warning after a large number of Americans had been killed by rioting Cantonese soldiers.

City police and a deputy from Sheriff Deal's office, operating under guidance of a state prohibition officer, raided several West Center street business houses and arrested five men on a charge of illicit liquor sales.

Mrs. George Kesselring was hostess to the Superba club at her home on Clover avenue.

Miss Anna Beth Pohler entertained the Junior Inter Nos at her home on South Seffner avenue, with Miss Mary Titsworth as assistant hostess.

J. M. Gardener was elected president and general manager of the Gardener Tap & Die Co. at the annual meeting.

The corn borer scare was spreading throughout this section of the country. A. E. Chenault, a representative of the federal department of agriculture, in a talk before the Kenton Kiwanis club said that although the European corn borer could never be entirely eradicated, immediate steps would have to be taken to control its invasion and prevent a huge economic loss.

Painful Surgery for Palestine

By STEWART ALSOP

JERUSALEM, March 24 — A struggle which has for some months wracked the Zionist movement is now quietly but tensely in progrsss here. For the Jewish Agency Executive now in session is attempting to plot the strategy to be adopted in presenting the Jewish case before the United Nations. Two factions within the executive are battling for their programs.

One faction, led by the American Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, wants to stand pat on the so-called "Biltmore program." This calls for unlimited Jewish immigration into Palestine and the elimination of all restriction on land sales to the end that the Jews, at present outnumbered 2 to 1 by the Arabs, should eventually become a majority and a Jewish state throughout Palestine should be established.

The opposing faction, whose leader is Dr. Nahum Goldman, close friend of the great Zionist statesman, Chaim Weizmann, wants to plump for the partition of Palestine into Jewish and Arab states.

One of these programs will be chosen to be presented to the United Nations. By the time this is read, the issue may be resolved. At present the betting is on Rabbi Silver.

Whichever is chosen, it will be opposed by the Arab plan for a "democratic state" backed by all the Arab countries.

The battle between these three opposing plans, of which there are an infinite number of variants, has been raging for years, and it will rage ever more fiercely as the time for consideration by the United Nations approaches. For an understanding of what is going on in this vital area, the meaning of these three basic plans must be grasped.

Predicts "Painful Operation"

The whole issue is so charged with emotion in this emotional city where there is one, and only one, subject for conversation, that it is almost humanly impossible to avoid partisanship. This reporter might as well admit that he, together with most Palestinian Jews, many Englishmen and even a number of sensible Arabs, is convinced that only the painful and dangerous operation of partition has a chance to heal this sick country.

The defenders of Dr. Silver's program argue that it is nothing more than the return to the conditions of the original mandate, from which it is argued that the British illegally strayed when the White Paper of 1939 was issued. Arguments about the real meaning of the Balfour declaration and the mandate are endless, and usually fruitless. At any rate, certain cogent practical arguments are advanced by many Jewish leaders against the Biltmore program.

One of them is tragic. The Biltmore program was first advanced in the early days of the war when millions of Jews, since massacred by Hitler, lived and longed for the promised land. But 6,000,000 Jews died in the gas chambers and experiment stations and many Jews doubt that more than 500,000 are left who would immigrate to Palestine if they could.

That would by no means suffice to give the Jews a majority throughout the country. Again it is asked whether it is in keeping with the United Nations Charter to force the Arabs, who are in the majority and who are bitterly opposed to further Jewish immigration, to wait with what patience they can muster until the distant date when the Jews outnumber them.

Unworkable Program

The argument for the Arab plan is simply that in a democracy the majority rules, and in this case, there is no doubt whatever what the majority wants; an end to Jewish immigration. Yet the Arab plan, aside from other considerations, is plainly unworkable for two reasons. First, although the plan guarantees equal rights to the Jews, no one can blame the Jews for a certain reluctance to welcome as rulers the Mufti of Jerusalem and the bloodthirsty Fawzi Kawukji, his military sidekick, both of whom gleefully joined Hitler during the war.

Second, if the well trained British Army is unable to control Jewish illegal immigration or Jewish terrorism, it seems unlikely that the disorganized Arabs could do better. The Arab plan, and realistic Arabs know it, could lead only to endless bloodshed.

Finally, there is partition. The arguments against it are many and compelling. The Jewish-held lands wind like a broken-backed snake across the map of Palestine, and no surgical operation on the country could be performed which would not leave the Jews and Arabs with their roots deep in their own soil in each other's territory.

If the Jewish state were to be more than a travesty, it would necessarily have a large and disaffected Arab minority. Both truncated states would be so small as to be virtually invisible. Most important, there would be an angry reaction throughout the Arab world, and the already sinking reservoir of Arab good will toward the United States would be further drained.

Called False Promise

Yet it is necessary to consider the alternative. For those who have argued against partition have always assumed that in the course of time, Jews and Arabs could learn to live together. With every day of added violence and hatred in this country, it is becoming clear that that premise is utterly false. No state can long survive with two component parts, politically and socially utterly antipathetic toward each other.

Finally, nothing is more urgently in the American interest than a settlement here and soon. Only partition imposed firmly with finality and with American backing offers the faintest hope of such a settlement. Any other program would leave Palestine for years a running political sore in the Middle East, a situation of which the Soviet Union well knows how to take advantage.

The cultivation of the moral judgment is the crucial need of civilization.

Carrot-Eating Dogs Fear Rabbits, Too

By The Associated Press

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. — Dogs, just like some people you know, have their personal peculiarities. Mrs. Edward Brechbeller's little fox terrier, "Betsy Lee," prefers vegetables to meat. She eats spinach, lettuce, tomatoes, cabbage and creamed onions. She likes to start off the day with a saucer of prune juice, and top off a meal with a cut of apple pie. Her food habits probably have nothing to do with it, but she's afraid of cats.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Science and the Weather

Mark Twain's famous crack, "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody ever does anything about it," is a dead duck. Plenty is being done about it. In fact, the General Electric Company and the United States Army Signal Corps have signed contracts to do something about it.

Papers were signed the other day for a war on fog, rain and snow in which science and Army B-29 bombers will cooperate in an all-out drive to blitz bad weather. It will begin over airdrome fields, with fog number one foe. But General Electric predicts a day when the "manipulation of giant natural forces will control weather everywhere."

* * *

We're really going after weather in a big way. The day when a bad spell could have its own way is nearing an end. That old meany, Fog, may encounter "No Trespassing Signs. This Means You" over every airfield in the land.

"Scram!" is the word, and removing the overcast from an airport may soon be almost as simple as shifting a scene on a revolving stage.

It all began when General Electric men flew over Greylock Mountain in Massachusetts last year, dropping six pounds of dry ice pellets at 14,000 feet, which produced artificial snow. Experiments have continued until it may almost be said that science has weather in the bag.

* * *

"There's a fog over our airport. Take an order to remove it right away," is about to become a routine message.

Ultimately a man who wants a fog can, by a reverse process, get it. A ski course operator can order his snow from General Electric direct. If your lawn is burning up, the time may come when you can wire a local weather service station and have a shower delivered the same day.

* * *

The man of tomorrow, planning a picnic, a field day or a parade will arrange with Schenectady for suitable weather.

All of which, we suppose, represents wonderful progress. However, the outlook is not all milk and honey. We have moods where we like snow, and we don't want the man next door fixing to ruin a nice flurry just because he is not a snow lover.

We are an old April shower fancier. We like April showers. We could almost be called an addict. We do not intend to take it lying down when a lovely April shower approaches our hacienda and the old lady up the lane gets the Signal Corps and General Electric to break it up.

"BRIGADOON," which sent us into ecstasies when we saw it on the road a month ago, seemed even better to us at the New York opening. Our bet is that it will be a close second to "Oklahoma!" in long-run records. Charming as it is, the adjective is being overworked by the critics, as it has more than that. It has a real book, tunes that are delightful without being in the Tinpan Alley mood, and a quality that lifts the spirit.

A nationwide phone strike is threatened again and Ima Dodo is on the phone all the while. She explains, "I want to get all my kicks in to the complaint operator before the service is cut off."

Ajax Cassidy says he got a letter from a man in Glocca Morra asking, "How are things in Chillicothe, Ohio?"

"Marshall Rejects Chinese Talk In Moscow" —headline.

We don't blame him. It's hard enough to get the hang of it in English.

Family Album

By TRUMAN TWILL

This is a picture of Heathcliffe at the age of one month. Note the bearskin rug. That is not Heathcliffe's head you are looking at. That is the bear's. This is Heathcliffe's head, here. It had a better shape as he grew older. As he grew older, Heathcliffe also quit posing in the nude. That was better too.

* * *

This is a picture of Heathcliffe on his first birthday. He was disappointed when the picture was taken. He had been begging for permission to push his Aunt Christine down the stairs. She walked with a cane. When he learned it was to be just another humdrum birthday, the little man was disconsolate. You can see how disconsolate he was by looking at the picture.

* * *

This shows Heathcliffe when he was a high school graduate. They had just put him through a Turkish bath to boil him, but he was beyond help. Shortly after this picture was taken Heathcliffe went away for a long time where it was nice and quiet and he couldn't get his hands on anything or anybody. It gave him plenty of time to mediate. He was already looking thoughtful.

* * *

This is what old Heathcliffe looked like when he found a gal who was playing her last trump and had nothing to lose, she said. That is the gal standing beside him—no, the other side. The one on this side was old enough to be his mother, too, in fact was his mother. Heathcliffe doesn't look happy in this picture. But he really wasn't unhappy. He was puzzled. He couldn't figure out what hit him. One day he was sponging on his family, without a care in the world. The next thing he was married. Two of them were sponging on his family.

Here is Heathcliffe when they turned him down as a boozer of distinction. He had tried all the kinds of whisky there were, trying to achieve that well-bred, high-strung look. He had rigged himself out in fruity and exotic costumes. The boy spent someone else's small fortune preparing himself. He had his picture taken from every conceivable angle, holding all kinds of beakers, goblets, cans and mugs. He was often plastered, but never with distinction. He wasn't the type. More the type for giving testimonials at prayer meetings, someone told him. It broke his spirit.

There are no recent pictures of Heathcliffe. The poor fellow has run his course, photographically. He has turned himself over to the specialists in X-ray, who are trying to determine whether his internal workings may provide the distinction he never achieved in his external aspects. But poor Heathcliffe. Even his stomach isn't photogenic. Not quite what the doctor had in mind. Just another stomach, a good bit the worse for wear.

Yellowstone River Flood Danger Eases

By The Associated Press

FAIRVIEW, Mont., March 24—The Yellowstone river was ice-free and receding in northeastern Montana today but North Dakota farmers in valleys of the Missouri were on the alert for possible floods.

Numerous farmers and residents of lowland were preparing to return to their homes, which they left Saturday when the Yellowstone inundated thousands of acres between Sidney, Mont. and Buford, N. D.

An ice jam at the confluence of the Yellowstone and Missouri rivers caused the Yellowstone to back into several valleys and forced hundreds to flee to higher ground.

ACHESON

been asked to do so. We do not foresee any need to do so. And we do not intend to do so."

As he did before the house foreign affairs committee last week, the acting cabinet officer said he does not think the aid proposals will lead to war.

"Opposite Is True"

"I think that quite the opposite is true," Acheson told the senators.

"These proposals are designed to increase the stability of, and to further the opportunity for democratic development in, two countries most important to the world community.

"These are not acts which lead to war.

"They lead in the other direction.

"They help to maintain the integrity and independence—what the United Nations charter calls the 'sovereign equality'—of states. That is one of the principles upon which the whole effort to organize the world for peace is founded."

Part of Two-way Drive

Acheson's testimony before the senate committee was one side of a two-way congressional drive to press the aid program through. It was spurred by documentary accusations that Russia is attempting to hoist the flag of Communistic control over both Greece and Turkey.

These documents—their "secret" label removed under congressional pressure to give the nation the "full facts"—accused Russia of waging a "war of nerves" against Turkey, told of a "master plan" to make Greece communistic, and called Poland a Soviet "satellite."

In the second segment of the Capitol Hill drive, undersecretary of State Will Clayton, in charge of the department's economic affairs, told the house foreign relations committee that all but $150,000,000 of the proposed $400,000,000 aid program would be spent for military purposes in the two countries.

He said approximately $300,000,000 would go to Greece, split on a 50-50 basis for military and civilian necessities. Of the latter $150,000,000, he said that $80,000,000 has been earmarked for internal costs to help Greece reform to economic stability $50,000,000 for foreign exchange costs, and $20,000,000 for such things as livestock and farm equipment.

Turkish Grant All Military

Clayton acknowledged that all of the $100,000,000 tentatively proposed to ease Turkish troubles could go for safeguarding the country's security. Most of it would be spent directly for military equipment but some of it for closely allied projects such as improving the transportation system.

In saying that no troops would be sent to either Greece or Turkey, Acheson asserted:

"We have no understandings with either Greece or Turkey, oral or otherwise, in regard to the sending of troops to those countries.

"Our military missions * * * will be small ones, whose task will probably be to find out the local needs for military equipment and to see to it that needed material is delivered and is in the hands of the proper authorities. Our missions will consist only of observers and advisers."

TOP MURDER CHARGE EXPECTED IN SLAYING

By The Associated Press

GREENFIELD, O., March 24—Sheriff F. P. Gustin of Highland county said 39-year-old Cecil Yankey probably would be charged today with first degree murder in the crowbar slaying of a 74-year-old age pensioner.

Formal charges, Gustin said, will be filed before Mayor W. F. Woodmansee some time today.

Meantime, Prosecutor Eugene Hahne disclosed the death weapon was a crowbar—but admitted authorities still were hunting for the particular instrument which clubbed the life from aged LeRoy Woodland early last Thursday.

Hahne said Yankey's signed admission of the slaying included the assertion the crime was committed with a crowbar which he "threw into the front yard."

Officers drained two cisterns and covered every inch of the property surrounding the woodland in suburban Higginsville yesterday without result.

Hahne said today the prisoner related taking $34 from the pockets of the aged indigent as he sprawled unconcious and moaning across his bed.

Police said Yankey had $63.24 in his possesison when taken into custody.

Miss Mabel Watts, 23, with whom Hahne said Yankey had been living in the Woodland home, called the prosecutor to her Greenfield city jail cell yesterday and admitted she and Yankey had never been married.

"We have been living in adultery," Hahne quoted the woman as saying.

Yankey said his statement, the posecutor declared, that he had Miss Watts began living together in April, 1945.

STRIKE OF 700 OHIO STUDENTS CONTINUES

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 24—Another school week started today but there were no indications some 700 North College Hill junior and senior high school students would end their strike in protest against refusal of the surburban community's school board to renew the contract of Dr. William Cook as superintendent of schools.

Pupils of three elementary schools are not involved in the strike which began last Wednesday morning when the older pupils did not enter classrooms and began parading in front of the building carrying placards demanding the retention of Dr. Cook.

Only major development during the week-end was a statement by Dr. Richard K. Kennan, a representative of the National Education association, that there appeared to be only one solution to the situation:

One of the three board members who oppose Dr. Cook must change his vote and retain the school superintendent.

President Leo G. Harrison, one of three majority members of the five-man board, said Dr. Cook was not retained because of "insubordination."

company and union declared they would "continue the fight."

Robert Buse, union president, said "our fight must now be carried on inside the plant." He called the company "arrogant and despicable" and said the union would "never surrender."

"We will go back without a contract before we will sign a sweat shop agreement. We will continue our fight—no matter how long it takes," his statement said.

Company President Walter Geist, in a letter to employes, said it had been a long, costly strike and added that "everyone loses in such a strike—particularly those union leaders whose aim it has long been to destroy friendly relationships between you and the company."

Geist said "we will continue to fight with all our strength against those who try to undermine relations between you and the company."

Bromfield Sees Eventual Failure for Communism

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 24—Because of its materialistic doctrine Communism will fail, whereas democracy is "impregnable because from every point of view it is the highest, the happiest, the most benevolent form of government yet to be evolved by mankind," Louis Bromfield said here last night.

The novelist and agriculturist, speaking before the Xavier university forum, said he was not afraid of Communism.

He said one of this country's "greatest problems is to adjust our living to conditions that exist today."

Bromfield criticized the habits of some of his fellow-townsmen at Mansfield:

"These men wear Phi Beta Kappa keys and yet they find it necessary to kill several hours a day playing pinball machines in the corner drugstore," he said.

CBS DENIES GAGGING WILLIAM L. SHIRER

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 24—William L. Shirer's assertion that his Sunday news program was being given to another commentator because of his liberal views brought a denial from a Columbia Broadcasting System spokesman.

Shirer, author of "Berlin Diary," announced on the air yesterday that his program next Sunday would be his last on his usual "spot." He told a reporter that a later hour was suggested, which "seems to be purely a move on their part because of my editorial position. I certainly consider it a move to gag me."

Edward S. Murrow, CBS vice president, said that the move "has nothing to do whatever with Mr. Shirer's political views."

Joseph C. Harsch, Washington commentator for five years, will take over the 5:45 p. m. spot, a CBS spokesman said.

Alleged Soviet Agent Cited by Congress

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 24—The house un-American activities committee today unanimously cited Leon Josephson of New York for contempt. He has refused to testify to a subcommittee.

Josephson was described in testimony to the committee Friday as a member of the Russian secret police and a figure in a passport forging ring in America.

THE Prospect Street Methodist church was the scene of the wedding Sunday of Miss Bonnie Jean Musgrave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Musgrave of 637 Miami street, to Gerald Max Chappell, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Chappell of 379 East Fairground street. The couple repeated their vows at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon before the altar decorated with a large bouquet of white snapdragons, ferns, and lighted tapers in two seven-branch candelabra. Rev. Henry Maag, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony and the custom of open church was observed.

Preceding the ceremony, a half-hour program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Robert Rice, organist, and Miss Ruth Carr, soloist. Mrs. Rice's selections included "Intermezzo," Provost, "Always," Berlin, "Salut D'Amour," Elgar, "Indian Love Call," Friml, "The Sweetest Story," Stults, "Ave Maria," Schubert, and the traditional wedding marches. During the ceremony she played "Day by Day," the favorite song of the bride and bridegroom. Miss Carr sang "Oh Promise Me," DeKoven, "Because," D'Hardelot, and "I Love You Truly," Bond.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin fashioned with a fitted bodice with a high round neckline and leg o'mutton sleeves which extended into points over the hands and buttoned at the wrist. The yoke of lace was trimmed with seed pearls and it was button trimmed down the back. The full skirt extended into a long train and her fingertip veil was caught with a tiara of seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible topped with a corsage of pink roses with white and blue streamers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Clements of Upper Sandusky. She wore a blue gown of satin and net. The fitted bodice was styled with a V-shaped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a single strand of pearls and her corsage was of white and pink carnations with pink streamers. The ring bearer was little Miss Phyllis Criswell, niece of the bride. She was attired in a long white stain dress with ruffles extending down the back from the waist forming a small train. Her hat was of white satin with white streamers.

Lighting the candles was Mrs. John Criswell, sister of the bride. Her gown was in pink with a taffeta bodice and net skirt. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, and she wore a corsage of pink roses.

Serving as best man was Paul Chappell, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Wallace Musgrave, brother of the bride, and Lewis Chappell and Charles Chappell, brothers of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Musgrave chose a black dress with which she combined black and white accessories. Mrs. Chappell was attired in an aqua colored dress with gray accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception for 60 guests at Ringer's inn followed the ceremony. The table held a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and serving were Miss Oma Hughes and Miss Virginia Griffith. When the couple left on a wedding trip, Mrs. Chappell was wearing a light gray suit with navy blue accessories and her bridal corsage. Upon their return, they will reside in their new trailer at the Musgrave residence on Miami street.

Mrs. Chappell is a graduate of Harding High school with the class of 1945 and is employed as a clerk-typist at the Marion Power Shovel Co. Mr. Chappell was graduated from Harding High school in 1942 and served three years with the U. S. Navy. He is enrolled at Ohio State university and will return to school there in June. For the present, he is employed at the Probst Supply Co.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Musgrave and children, Lu Artis and Robert of Lorain, Mr. and Mrs. William Musgrave and daughter, Bernice, and Mrs. John Shaffer and son, Paul, of Kenton, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Green of Marysville, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Temple of Richwood, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ward of Mt. Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Chappell of Edison, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Greenland of Nevada.

A rehearsal party was held Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chappell. The bride's gifts to her attendant and candlelighter were lapel pins. The bridegroom gave his best man a camera and to the ushers he gave ties.

HONOR SERVICE FOR WAR DEAD READY AT MT. GILEAD

American Legion To Honor War Dead Brought Back.

MT. GILEAD — March 24—A homage service designed to honor the war dead and assist and comfort survivor families has been developed by the T. P. Johnston Post of the American Legion here and will be offered to Morrow county families in August when the first repatriated war dead are scheduled to arrive.

Announcement of the service was made this week by Lafe Courtright, Morrow county service officer and a member of the local Legion Post. He said the Legion Post was organizing a color guard, firing squad and a ritualistic team which would be available to any Morrow county family for ceremonial and counseling services on the return of war dead The color guard would be made up of former Marines, the firing squad of Navy veterans and the ritualistic team of Army veterans.

Legion officials announced that arrangements have been made to give advance notification to posts when repatriated war dead are enroute to final resting places within the post's area.

Under the plan, bearing War Department approval, post officials will contact families of the deceased serviceman to offer the services They will include a uniformed honor guard to escort the body upon arrival and full memorial rites at the cemetery when requested by the family.

Counseling services will be extended to the next-of-kin through the post service officer in connection with any death or burial benefits, compensation or insurance claims or securing of Government headstones or markers

Cage Coaches Seek Better Tourney Break for Teams

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 24—A better break for their boys in the state cage championship chase is sought by the newly-formed Ohio High School Basketball Coaches association.

The group, headed by Coach Carl Bachman of Findlay's Trojans, was organized here Saturday at a meeting attended by some 200 mentors, and it immediately came up with a series of suggestions and demands.

Among them were:

1—More expense money and more passes for teams competing in the state tournament.

2—Redistricting of the state to provide better representation in tournament play for some districts.

3—A return to the pre-war tournament plan of 16 teams from each class appearing in Columbus, instead of the present regional set-up which sends four of each class to the finals.

4—Cutting to two minutes the current final four-minute rule during which time is out each time the whistle blows.

5—Standardization of equipment, especially bankbords.

6—A change in the method of picking tournament officials, and standardization of the rules.

To Join Larger Group

At the invitation of Heinie Beck of Warren, president of the Ohio High School Football Coaches association, the new group voted to participate with the grid and track mentors in a parent organization to be known as the Ohio High School Coaches association. The three groups would retain their individual identity, but would cooperate on mutual plans through the parent body.

Bachman, following his election, declared "we have a lot of gripes to make and there should be some changes made. He called the present tournament setup "lousy" and said it was a "dirty crime" the way tournament qualifiers lose money" under the expense plan of the Ohio High School Athletic association.

He declared no reservation had been made for his Findlay team the night before its elimination in the semi-finals by East Liverpool, but finally had put his boys to bed at 11:45 p. m., "six on the floor, four on davenports, and five in one room in another hotel."

The coaches also objected to the association rule limiting competing squads to 17 passes to the tournament, for players, coaches and official party.

The redistricting proposal, by Max Douglas of Newark, was that the state be split into eight districts instead of six, on a school population basis instead of geographic, and that each send two representatives to Columbus.

Statistics Brought Out

The four-minute rule was opposed when statistics offered at the meeting showed that sometimes 18 minutes were consumed in the playing the last four minutes of actual play. The standardized equipment angle popped up as some mentors objected to the conglomeration of fan-shaped, square and transparent glass bankboards.

Charges that favoritism was shown in selecting tournament officials was voiced, one coach declaring that "if you live in the same town with a state board member you have a chance. Let's get this out of politics and base it on merit, not friendship."

Vernon Hoffman of Mansfield offered the motion to put the tournament back on a 16-team basis, and he also urged that it be played over two weekends if necessary, and that the expense plan "be changed to take care of everything.

John Cabas, Coach of Columbiana's class B championship Clippers, was named vice president, and Ralph Webster of Columbus East secretary-treasurer.

Two weight lifters from here, Joe Gillispie and Bob Moore, were entered in the sport event.

Captain of Champs Never Sure of Win

By CARL LANSAW
(Captain, Middletown High School Class A Basketball Champions)

MIDDLETOWN, O., March 24—I never figured our victory over East Liverpool was in the bag Saturday night until the automatic timeout, four minutes before the finish.

I wasn't nervous before the game, but all of us were, I think, before the first one against Ashtabula. We figured East Liverpool would be pretty cocky because of the way we looked in that one.

But even though we were going good, we never figured the win for sure until the scoreboard showed the 39-24 score at the automatic timeout. I knew we had it then.

I only wish I had another year. All of these guys will be back except me, and what a team they are.

A 30-day jail sentence was suspended providing Cass pay fine and costs and stay away from the plaintiff. Chester Hart, 29, of south of Galion, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, fined $100 and costs, and a 30-day jail sentence was suspended providing fine and costs were paid. He also was fined $5 and costs on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with wrong license plates.

Middies, Columbiana, Losers In 1945, Win Ohio Cage Titles

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 24—Two teams which went home two years ago as losers in the state high school basketball championship finals—Middletown and Columbiana—were hailed today as conquering heroes by their home-town fans.

For the losers of 1945 were the victors in 1947. Middletown took the class A crown Saturday night after Columbiana's Clippers snagged the class B laurels.

The Middies, boasting their third title in three years, were due for a big celebration at the school today, following a mammoth homecoming parade yesterday. For the Clippers, boasting their first conquest over the state's 947 class B schools, there was no school today.

Romp To Victory

Middletown, with only one player back from last season's kings of the 213 class A schools, romped to a 47-29 victory over East Liverpool before 9,257 screaming fans in the state fairgrounds Coliseum. It was the greatest crowd ever to see a tournament game, and hiked the tournament total to 34,813, or 15,534 more than saw the 1947 basketball battles.

The Clippers, beaten only by class A Salem in 26 games, roared to the throne with a 43-34 conquest of New Knoxville's Rangers, who were making their first bid for the laurels. A throng of 7,460 turned out for the class B finals Saturday afternoon.

When the news that the Clippers had triumphed hit Columbiana, giving that county its first high school championship, they turned out the fire engines and had themselves a parade. Today signs and placards of "we won it" and "yea, Clippers," were tacked up all over town.

Sore Backs Abound

Practically everyone in town had a sore back from the pounding, and school officials came up with their "no classes Monday" ruling to make it complete. A big celebration is due at school when classes resume tomorrow.

You'd never have thought it was an old story at Middletown, where the Butler county town went as wild as a batch of sophomores late yesterday when the boys came home. Three cars met the team at Franklin, 10 miles away, and the triumphant entry was made between rows of cheering motorists who covered the entire route.

Even the Franklin high band turned out and tooted a welcome as highway patrol and police cars escorted the players to the high school gym where a crowd of 5,000 staged an impromptu celebration.

Tie Kept as Trophy

The fabulous red and blue tie which Coach Paul Walker twisted all through the tournament was placed in a glass case and presented to team captain Carl Lansaw—who was ordered to return it to Walker before next season's tournament games.

More than 15,000 persons were estimated to have witnessed the parade and celebration. But school officials refused to call off classes today. They wanted the team on hand for a student celebration in the auditorium.

Walker, third Middletown mentor to take the team to the title in four years, made it in his first season. He's a graduate of Western Kentucky State, and last year coached at Portsmouth. Columbiana's coach, John Cabas, is in his third year at the school, and twice has reached the finals. He was graduated by Mount Union in 1940, and formerly coached at Salineville, Chester, W. Va., and Wellsville.

Six Teams Left as Y. M. C. A. Tourney Enters Last Week

Going into the home stretch of the Y.M.C.A.'s double elimination tournament, six of the original 18 squads are still around for this last week of tourney play.

Saturday night two of the clubs, McMillen Feed and Universal Cooler, kept their hopes burning as they knocked off two other contenders, Stone's Grill and Claridon Ex-Hi.

McMillen had relatively little difficulty in staying ahead of Stone's Grill to win 63 to 45 while U. C. had a real scrap in eliminating Claridon 39 to 37.

The tournament resumes tonight with two games and may be wound up with single games Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It can continue to Monday night of next week, however.

The other four teams remaining in the meet are Green Camp K. of P., Smith's Clothing, Guy's Hardware and Buckeyes.

Tonight Cooler engages Green Camp and McMillen plays Smith's. Opening game is at 8 on the upper floor.

Thursday the winners meet and Friday the winner of this contest meets Guy's. This is a semi-final match and the loser will be the tourney's third place team.

Saturday night the winner of Friday night's game draws the Buckeyes, only team that hasn't dropped a tournament game. A member of the class A league, they won the second round championship but were beaten out of the league title by Guy's in a play-off game.

Two of the other teams in the league won championships in the leagues. McMillen was the first round class AA title winner and Green Camp won the second round and took the league crown in a play-off game.

EDDIE MILLER DECIDES TO PLAY BALL IN '47

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla., March 24—Eddie Miller has made up his mind. He's going to try to play baseball this season.

So says Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, who reiterated, however, that the veteran shortstop probably will not perform for Cincinnati.

Miller, a Redleg the last four seasons and generally regarded as one of the best infielders in the business, announced sometime ago he was considering retirement because his sore right arm has failed to respond to treatment.

For the past two weeks, Miller has been working out with the Toronto club of the International league at Lake Worth, Fla.

Giles said the shortstop yesterday agreed to his suggestion that he go to Plant City, Fla., and work out with the International league Syracuse Chiefs, the Reds' No. 1 farm.

Miller reported his arm "felt fairly good," Giles asserted, then added emphatically:

"Miller definitely will be traded if he proves to rival scouts that his arm is okay and he is ready to play."

Cincinnati's grapefruit record dropped to .500—six wins and as many setbacks—yesterday as the Redlegs lost a 7-6 decision to the Boston Red Sox, who put the game on ice with a five-run out-burst in the fourth inning at the expense of rookie Kent Peterson.

Investment per employe in the coal industry is about $9,000, in the metal products industry $5,600, in food processing industry $8,400 and the industrial average is about $6,000.

Big 3 Card Hurlers Hang Shutout on New York Yanks

By The Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 24—The Big Three of the St. Louis Cardinal mound staff, each taking a three-inning turn in their first competitive pitching since the 1946 World Series, reassured their teammates yesterday by shutting out the New York Yankees, 3-0, on a total of only four hits.

Harry Brecheen yielded two hits and two walks and had two strikeouts. Murry Dickson permitted one hit, no passes and had two strikeouts. Howie Pollet gave up one hit, one walk and struck out three.

MIAMI, Fla.—General Manager Bill Dewitt says crowds attending the exhibitions at the St. Louis Browns' training base have not been up to expectations while costs have been high and that the club will have to pay out about $30,000 more than it takes in.

OAKLAND, Calif.—Bill Nicholson, the Chicago Cubs' revived outfielder, nrused a pulled leg muscle today but he wasn't expected to be sidelined long. He retired for a pinch runner in the Cubs' game with Oakland yesterday.

Nicholson's return to form is the most discussed event among the Cubs. He cracked out his fourth homer of the exhibition season yesterday and his second in two days. He also added a double and drove in four runs in all as the Cubs beat the Oaks, 11-2.

MIAMI, Fla.—The Boston Red Sox make their last bus trip today, journeying to St. Petersburg for an exhibition tilt with the St. Louis Cardinals in a World Series "reunion."

The Sox camp was relieved to hear an X-ray of second baseman Bobby Doerr's left elbow revealed no serious injury. Doer was hit by Cincinnati pitcher Eddie Errautt two days ago.

LAKELAND, Fla.—The Detroit Tigers unhappily counted up their eighth defeat in 12 spring exhibition games—four in a row—after a 7-6 loss to the Washington Senators yesterday.

BASEBALL BANQUET GUEST LIST GROWS

The list of persons who will attend the baseball banquet here April 24 is swelling as several more out-of-towners have indicated that they will be on hand.

Among those who wrote W. Dexter Hazen, Marion club president, that they will be here are Leo Ferris and Ben Kerner concessionaires from Buffalo. They operate one of the biggest baseball concessions outfits and have charge of that department in the local ball park.

They will bring with them William J. Schumacher and Darby Whalen. Schumacher formerly owned the Lockport team in the famous Poney league. Whalen is a former Ohio-State league star, having played around 1914 and 1915.

"Matchbox" Cameras Aided Wartime Agents

By The Associated Press

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 24—Cameras small enough to fit into a man's hand and resembling a box of safety matches aided Allies agents to snap photographs behind enemy lines during World War II.

Eastman Kodak company revealed Saturday that 1,000 of the cameras and "vestpocket" darkrooms were produced for the office of strategic services and underground forces in enemy-held territory.

The cameras, known as "matchbox" cameras, produced half-inch square pictures which could be enlarged many times. The miniature darkroom" with chemicals in roll form enabled the agents to develop film in a small glass with a single jigger of solution.

The camera made 30 exposures on a film two feet long.

INFLATION PRESSURE ON STEEL SEEN CUT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 24—"Some of the inflationary pressure" has been cut from "the steel price structure" by signs that steel and scrap prices have been checked, said the magazine Steel today.

The reduction in extra prices on steel of as much as $10 a ton, announced last week by U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiaries "will be followed by similar action from other steelmakers, and the continued rise in prices of iron and steel scrap have been apparently checked at most points," the trade journal said.

Further price revisions are expected for major steel products, and the scrap market has been eased by better weather and "removal of the last serious threat of a coal strike in April," it reported.

Steel production continues at a record peace-time rate, gaining for the third consecutive week, but the effort of finishing mills to make dents in their order backlogs "will be impeded during the second and subsequent quarters by the necessity of channeling a large portion of total production into the car building program."

The national steelmaking rate rose 1.5 per cent last week to 96.5 per cent of rated capacity, the highest since April, 1945.

In Wheeling operations were up 4.5 per cent to 93.5, in Pittsburgh 2.5 to 99, in eastern Pennsylvania two to 90, and in Chicago and Cleveland one to 95. Elsewhere the rate was unchanged.

GREEK REDS URGED TO WOO ELECTORATE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 24—Foreign Minister Constantine Tsaldaris of Greece says Communists "are welcome to" majority control of the Greek government if they can score a victory in a Democratic Grecian election, John Leacacos, Cleveland Plain Dealer correspondent, reports

Tsaldaris, in an exclusive interview with the Ohio newsman Saturday night, outlined a five-point program to solve Greek problems

The program included an appeal to Generalissimo Stalin to declare that Communists would prefer the victory of their party philosophy through democratic means, instead of revolutions, establishment of a neutral zone in Greece where guerrillas may surrender arms to a UN or international committee;

Subsequent freedom of movement of guerillas; general amnesty for guerillas and political prisoners, followed by a new Greek election, and free customs zones for Yugoslavia and Bulgaria at Salonika

Programs on the Air

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 24—Decision by the FCC that color television is not ready as a public service does not mean the end of that development, rather research is to go right ahead with the objective of making it the ultimate goal of visual broadcasting.

Previously RCA, whose position that color needed much more work was supported in the commission ruling, had announced a "timetable" for its research There has been no indicated change in that schedule. It calls for a four-year period in which to work out various problems, but with no assurance that there will be further progress demonstrations much before 1948. RCA describes the system upon which it is working as all-electronic.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

LOOKING AT BOTH SIDES

Editor of The Star: I enjoy The Marion Star a great deal. I also note that the WLW program which comes on at 11.15 p. m. right after Peter Grant on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and which deals with editorials appearing in various newspapers, almost always refers to The Marion Star. Now you are likely saying, "Well, what's this brother leading up too—after these compliments?" Here it is:

It seems that the two "bad boys" that you take to task most often, and especially in your cartoon, are Russia and Labor. I recall sometime ago you ran a cartoon showing the Russian Bear with a lot of pockets, and had labeled each pocket with some territory which Russia either had taken, or wanted to acquire. But are we so much different. We blubber about keeping the Pacific Islands because "our boys fought and died for them." thats' nonsense! Our boys didn't fight and die for those barren wastes as islands. In fact, talk to any boy who spent time on them—the only thing they could think about was, "When will we get off this hot, rocky chunk of volcanic waste?" They fought and died that all men might be free—not to gain a few chunks of islands that can mean only future bloodshed if we try to keep them.

And we are quite surprised that Russia gives the OK to our keeping them. Even when Russia does agree with the United States we want to make out that they have ulterior motives. Why must we keep playing up suspicion, distrust, fear—even when there is an instance of perfect agreement. We don't want war, but we do all the things that lead inevitably to war.

Now, I know I run the risk of being branded "Red", Russian", "Communist"—it's always easy to label, and call names. But it's hard to refute truth. I'm as patriotic as the next one. I only feel that we ought to see both sides, and the truth of both sides. "The truth shall make you free."

Sandusky Man Hurt In Shooting Fatal to Two

By The Associated Press

SANDUSKY, O., March 24—Dennis Cousino, 45, described by police as an innocent bystander, was suffering from a chest wound today following a shooting which took two lives.

Police Chief R. G. Bravard said police shot and killed J. Tillman Green, 47, Saturday after he apparently went berserk and fatally wounded William Crooks, 46.

Bravard said Green, after terrorizing the neighborhood, came out of his house firing a rifle.

Cousino, a street department worker, reported he felt something hit his jacket while walking in the neighborhood and later experienced a stinging feeling in his chest.

The wound was discovered when he was admitted to a hospital four hours after the shooting. He was reported in "fair condition" today.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

MARY'S enchanting smile at Dr Twitchell was what her uncle calls "one out of her top drawer," and I guessed that she was turning on all of her charm in preparation for the request she meant to make of him—for permission to read part, at least, of the manuscript of my play before she should go to sleep.

"Thank you so much," she said. "I know I should have cried myself to sleep if I couldn't have seen Noel. And, Doctor—"

Addressed Madge Directly

But he made any further plea impossible by addressing me directly, after he had made a formal little bow, acknowledging her thanks.

"I am altering my instructions," he said "Postpone her bath and her supper until after she has talked with her husband. Then, when she is in bed again, all ready for the tablet, call me. I will give it to her myself."

"I suppose after a return engagement with the clinical thermometer," Mary said with an impudent grin.

"Exactly," Dr. Twitchell retorted firmly. But he tempered his words with an indulgent, fatherly smile, and then went rapidly out of the room.

"Will you let me have a mirror, Auntie Madge?" Mary asked, when the door had closed behind him.

I brought it to her, and she looked at herself critically.

Helped Herself

"Do you know I didn't do so bad by my general appearance when I locked myself in your study bathroom while Olina was talking to you," she said naively. "I helped myself to your cosmetics and lovely perfumed lotions, and even managed a sort of sponge bath. I freshened up a lot, and am I glad. I'd hate Noel to think I'd grown old and haggard."

I laughed aloud. I could not help it. The contrast between her words and the exquisite picture she made was so great. But I knew what a past mistress of make-up she was, and I wanted much to see how her cheeks would look after her hot bath, when every trace of cosmetics should be removed I wondered if that were not one reason for Dr. Twitchell's announced intention of coming back to give her from his own hands the pellet he had prescribed. But, of course, I knew his chief reason for coming back after Noel's visit was to see how the interview with her husband would affect Mary.

Won't Start for Reno

"I don't believe Noel will start for Reno as soon as he sees you," I told her teasingly.

"You never know," she said, holding out the mirror to me.

When I had put it back on the dresser, she said uncertainly: "Auntie Madge!"

"Yes, darling," I answered, turning toward her.

"You're so psychic sometimes," she said, "and you're always so understanding. Tell me, why is it, when I'm so crazy to see Noel—I'd have cried my eyes out if Dr. Twitchell hadn't said he could come in here tonight—yet why is it something inside me dreads to see him? I'm positively petrified with fright!"

I went over to the bedside and took her hands in mine. If they had been icy, as I half expected, I would have gone swiftly into the sitting room and asked the physician to forbid the interview, telling him my reason for the request.

I'll tell you all about it. You see—"

But she was not to tell me for some time afterward.

A knock sounded on the bedroom door, and at my call "come in!" Dicky came through the door, holding Noel, with glad, excited eyes, but face ashen with anxiety.

"Sweetheart!" he called, and then, as Dicky released him, he dashed over to the bed, and caught Mary up in his arms.
